Course Description
The course has two components: one reflective (seminar) and one experiential (practicum). The weekly seminar component is where students will examine educational psychology, pedagogical models, and English language teaching methods. Through discussion of readings, sharing of experiences, group work, and focused assignments, students will increase their understanding on how culture influences learning, as well as how to teach English as a foreign language.

The practicum is a means of applying intercultural communication skills and theoretical knowledge to gain practical, field-specific experience. Students will work with local primary and high schools. Practicum placements are determined by students’ and schools’ class schedules and will be decided during Week 2. For descriptions of the practicum sites and student responsibilities, please see page 3.

The goal of this course is to introduce students to cultural engagement based on mutual benefit and growth through dialogue and hands-on experience. The course is designed for students willing to broaden their cultural perspectives, develop a heightened sense of intercultural awareness and sensitivity, and see different communities from a comparative, global standpoint. Students who commit to this course should keep an open mind, be motivated to actively learn, and be flexible.

Course Requirements

Grades are based on students’ commitment to the practicum and participation in class seminars, as well as students’ academic work, assessed through journaling, reflective papers, and presentations.

Participation (15%)

Class participation grades are based on oral contributions to the collective learning experience. Participation means active engagement in the course: being prepared for class (having carefully read that day’s assignments), asking questions, responding to questions, and attentively listening to others.

Journal (15%)

Students will be required to keep a weekly journal. The journal will be alternatively in written form and in video log form. The focus of the journal will follow the weekly themes in the syllabus and reflections on the subjects.
that have been discussed in class and presented in the readings. In addition, students will illustrate how such topics relate to their own practicum experiences.

Learning Log (15%)
At the beginning of the semester, students will choose five skills from a list provided which they intend to develop and improve upon throughout the semester during the practicum experience. Each practicum session, students must record the date and time, what activities they have done, and which of the chosen skills were involved in order to accomplish those activities. Halfway through the semester, students will assess which skills have been developed and which need to be addressed. At the end of the semester, students will reflect on their learning log to take stock of their experience.

Reading Highlights (15%)
Each week, students are required to read the assigned reading and submit three to five reading highlights to the instructor. Highlights are a short collection of 85-character bullet points (including spaces) that convey the core messages and provide a quick textual overview of the reading. These bullet points describe the essence of the reading and highlight what is distinctive about it.

Reflective Paper (15%)
Students will have to submit a reflective paper at the end of the course. They will be required to select and discuss a topic from the units to a personal experience, citing three recent authoritative sources. The paper should be approximately 1,500 words long.

Presentation (15%)
Students will prepare two oral presentations, one individual and one in a group. The instructor will assist students in reflecting on how to prepare effective presentations. The individual presentation will allow students to report the main findings of their individual assignment to the class. The topic of the group presentation will focus on students’ work with the community partner, which will be presented to a broader audience during Special Academic Events Week.

Practicum Evaluation by Community Partner (10%)
Host supervisors will be asked to provide a feedback that reflects students’ engagement and commitment to the practicum.

Attendance Policy
Class attendance is mandatory. Students are allowed two “free” absences, which do not need to be justified. It is the students’ responsibility to keep them in case of real necessity (sickness or any other unforeseen inconvenience that may prevent students from being in class). Each additional absence, unless for a very serious reason, will lower the students’ grade by one grade level (i.e., a final grade of a B+ would be lowered to a B).

If students miss class, they are responsible for obtaining class notes from other students and/or for meeting the professor during office hours. It is also the policy of the Institute that any student who has eight or more absences automatically fails the class.

Except in the case of medical emergencies, absences are not accepted when tests are scheduled; tests cannot be made up. Furthermore, scheduled times and dates indicated for exams, quizzes, oral presentations, and any other graded assignments cannot be changed for any reason. Even if more sections of the same class are activated, students may only take exams during the scheduled times and dates for the section they are enrolled in.

Presence during mandatory field trips is especially important for student performance in class. Missing a mandatory field trip, unless for a very serious reason that is communicated to the professor and Umbra Academic Director in a timely manner, will lower students’ final grade by one grade level (i.e., a final grade of a B+ would be lowered to a B).

Academic Integrity
All forms of cheating (i.e., copying during exam either from a fellow student or making unauthorized use of notes) and plagiarism (i.e., presenting the ideas or words of another person for academic evaluation without acknowledging the source) will be handled according to the Institute Academic Policy, which can be found in the Umbra Institute Academic Policies and Conduct Guidelines.

Classroom Policy
Students are expected to follow the policy of the Institute and demonstrate the appropriate respect for the historical premises that the school occupies. Please note that cell phones must be turned off before the beginning of each class. Computers and other electronic devices cannot be used during class lectures and discussions.
